Meet at the war memorial in St. Peter's Square

Wolverhampton City Centre War Memorial Trail –

This guided tour of the various city centre Great War memorials will visit official monuments as well as private, intensely personal, tributes to lost loved-ones. Some memorials are on public view, whereas others are less obvious; concealed in churches or businesses. The trail will include monuments made by renowned craftsmen, in stone, bronze and stained glass and it will appeal to anyone with an interest in the culture of remembrance that developed during and after the war. If you would like to participate in this event, please meet beside the main city war memorial in St. Peter's Square, ready for a prompt start at 2pm. The trail should take up to two hours to complete.

Some of the memorials we aim to visit include the Little's Lane 'street shrine', the memorials to the staff of the Express and Star newspaper and the old National Provincial Bank, as well as those inside various city-centre churches. The guide will highlight particular individuals on each of the memorials visited, but walkers are also invited to share their own stories about the people they know about and whose names are listed.
